Five Persons Injured, Six Cars Smashed In and Around Here Yesterday—Careless Driving Blamed

LIQUOR BLAMED IN AT LEAST ONE CASE

Five persons injured and six automobiles smashed are tolls of motoring accidents resulting from carelessness and reckless driving in Middlesboro and vicinity yesterday.

A car driven by Robert Giles of Rose Hill containing several men passengers collided with another driven by Cecil Adams of Arthur Va., on the Virginia road near the state line, yesterday, injuring G. W. Daniels and Bert Daniels, occupants of the former car and Miss Hattie Barker of Arthur who was riding in the other. Miss Barker was reported badly injured and was taken to the office of Dr. Van of Cumberland Gap by Mrs. James Berkeley and her son, Willie, who were near the scene of the accident at the time.

Hufus Fry, taxi driver, brought the two Daniels men to the Brooker-Brunnmetts hospital here. Their injuries were not serious and they left the hospital after the injuries were treated.

Miss Mellie Napier of Pineville was injured in a collision near the foot of the mountain at noon yesterday. The car in which she was riding, driven by Mack Parks, was struck by an auto driven by Mose Lynch of Mingo. She was badly cut about the head when it struck the windshield, though the injury was not serious.

The car driven by Lynch first struck a car driven by C. W. Henry of Pineville, then struck Parks' car a short distance away. Mrs. C. W. Henry, Mrs. J. W. Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker, all of Pineville, were passengers of the Henry car. All the cars were damaged.

Witnesses say that liquor was thrown from Mose Lynch's car shortly after the accident. John Moore and Hiram Smith were passengers in the latter car. The trio were arrested by Deputy D. C. Sellers and Policemen C. M. Yeary and A. D. DeBunck and brought to the city jail. Their trial for reckless driving and possibly for transporting liquor was set for today.

A local physician reports that a man from Knox county, whose name he failed to obtain, was hurt when a car driven by a man named Ringham ran out of the road on the Pineville pike near Binghamtown. This accident was caused by the men changing seats while the car was in operation.

MARYVILLE ELEVEN

College Team Crushes Harrogate Boys Friday to Time of 73 to 0

MARYVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 29.—Maryville College overwhelmingly defeated Lincoln Memorial University Friday by a score of 73 to 0. This is L. M. U.'s first year at football and it was the old story of a heavy, well-trained team running over a lighter, less experienced aggregation.

While they were completely outclassed the visitors did not quit fighting until the final whistle had blown. In the third quarter they uncorked a series of fake plays which completely baffled Maryville and resulted in the annexing of many yards.

Maryville gained consistently on every method of attack they attempted. Their most brilliant work was the completing of many daring passes for substantial gains.

Risky, who played quarterback for Maryville, was easily the outstanding star of the game, being responsible for four of his team's touchdowns, one of which resulted from a brilliant run of 55 yards. McMurray and Sneed were also consistent ground gainers, while Williams did some good work at going down on punts and snagging passes. Turner was the shining light for L. M. U.

Colored Miner Injured
Jace Etheridge, colored miner who was hurt at the Yellow Creek mine on Friday afternoon, is improving at the Brooker-Brunnmetts hospital. He was trying to couple to mining cars when he was caught between the top of a car and the roof of the mine, causing painful injuries to his side and head.

KENTUCKY PIONEER INSULIN AVAILABLE MEMORIAL PLANS TO POOREST NOW

Supt. Geo. Colvin Wants Children of State to Have Part in Movement

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 29.—Complete details of the part school children will play in the erection of a memorial to Kentucky Pioneers at Harrodsburg are contained in the following letter sent by George Colvin, state superintendent, to all school heads of the state.

"The Kentucky Pioneer Memorial Association, composed for the purpose of erecting an impressive memorial to Kentucky pioneer men and women at Harrodsburg on old Fort Harrod Hill, has invited the co-operation of our schools in this movement. To this end a state-wide essay contest has been planned, open to all school children of the state.

"The subject of the contest is 'Pioneer Life and History of the County in which Contestant Attends School. There is to be a contest open to high school pupils only; another contest, open to sixth to eighth grade pupils only; a third contest open to third to fifth grade pupils only. It is planned to have the county superintendent to appoint a county committee to select to select the two best essays of those submitted from each of the three classes of contestants in the county, and to forward these to the Kentucky Pioneer Memorial Association at Harrodsburg on or before February 12, 1924—the birth of Abraham Lincoln. Another committee will select two prize winners from each of the three classes of contestants who have won in the various counties. Attractive prizes will be given to the various winners. The winning essays from the various counties will be collected into book form and will be known as the 'Children's Pioneer History of Kentucky' and will be preserved by the Memorial Association.

"I have gladly placed the cooperation of the school forces of our state, because of the splendid opportunity it brings to them. There is no more thrilling epic than the story of the settlement of Kentucky; each county abounds in spots of romantic and historic interest. The valor and devotion of our ancestors is a priceless heritage for our children. They are entitled to know this story and make it the inspiration of their lives. No state is directly the product of its traditions than is Kentucky. Characteristics of our ancestors are our characteristics; their virtues are our virtues; their ideals are our ideals. This movement happily connected brings to our teachers an opportunity to enrich in a definite way the lives of our children. Too long has the rich resource been neglected. Too much of our history is remote and unrelated to the lives of our children. By teaching them the history of their own community and of their own county and of their own people, history will assume a new meaning and acquire a new interest.

"HONEY BAE" EPES FOUND, MUST FINISH 999 DAYS

George Epps, familiarly known as "Honey Babe," has again fallen into the relentless clutches of the law and has been incarcerated at the Pineville jail, an institution which he summarily left several months ago, there to remain in duress vile until he has finished his 999 days jail sentence. Epps finished his 990 days jail sentence for various and accumulated liquor charge violations.

"Honey Babe" was captured at Cumberland Gap Saturday night by Deputies D. C. Sellers and M. C. Lambert, the latter a Tennessee officer who was present in order that the arrest might be legal.

Since the erstwhile prisoner's escape from the county jail some time ago local officers suspect that he has been implicated in some of the short-line affairs which occur two or three nights per week in the E. & E. Rd.

URGES CLUBS TO BE LAW ABIDING

Kentucky Prohibition Director Says Enforcement Depends on People

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 29.—Observance of the liquor laws by clubs, organizations and citizens generally is equally important with law enforcement, Sam Collins, federal prohibition director for Kentucky, declared in a statement given out here today. The statement was made during a discussion of the work accomplished by the recent conference of governors in relation to the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"If the Eighteenth Amendment is to be made wholly effective then it is up to the clubs and other organizations to observe limits entirely as 'bootleggers' exist only to supply a demand from patrons," Mr. Collins said.

"There are only 1522 federal prohibition officers in the whole United States while sheriffs, police and other officers who may make arrests number more than 200,000," Mr. Collins said. "The purpose of giving the states concurrent jurisdiction was to obtain this vast army of officers already employed and paid rather than to build up an equally large federal force."

"It is, however, gratifying to know that this handful of agents has accomplished much, and that the fines, taxes and penalties paid by violators have more than paid the entire cost of enforcement."

IMPROVEMENTS AT WALLINS

Many civic improvements are reported at Wallins by the Rev. W. L. Since mining interests in the section were acquired by Henry Ford the town has begun a rapid development. Building restrictions now prohibit the erecting of shabby frame buildings. As a result of this substantial two and three-story business buildings are being erected.

The parsonage at the Baptist church of which Rev. Powell is pastor is almost finished and he will move his family there when the work is entirely done. Until a few months ago, Rev. Powell was assistant pastor of the First Baptist church in Middlesboro.

Farewell to Summer

Like winds that blow from far sequestered seas

With song of lovely waters gray and vast,

And undiscovered islands of the past

Dhu in the mist of vanished destinies
The autumn winds bring murmuring melodies

From pale horizons where the great hills massed

Like monks for rites of evening chant at last

Farewell to Summer and her mysteries

Deserted are the aisles where beauty walked

In glowing raiment wrought of leaf and bloom

And listened to the tales of bee and bird.

Alone, where roses with the Summer talked

Or watched the weaving of her fragrant loom,

Pause now the feet of memory, unheard.

Cheese Cakes

Cheese cake is really as "old as the hills," but has been so little used for years past that it will seem new to many cooks.

I dare say cheese cake of some sort

TWO PLAYERS ABLE TO THROW FORWARD PASS GREAT AID TO COACH

If a coach is fortunate enough to have two men who can throw, he may devise a scheme of attack for the purpose of employing both in such a way as to deceive the defense and to destroy their intended concentration on the one individual.

For example, one thrower can line up somewhere six yards back of the center, while the other lines up from ten to twelve yards directly back of the center.

Since the center can pass to one or the other for the purpose of throwing a pass, the defense, although knowing a forward pass is contemplated, cannot concentrate on one man, and this produces hesitation, which assures the thrower more time in executing the pass.

No. 1 back may throw a pass from point A or may bluff and make a ward many a Thanksgiving dinner in colonial days. For cheese cakes were transplanted from "merry old England" along with "bubble and squeak" and "toad in the hole" and many other delightful concoctions.

There are "Folkstone cheese cakes" as well as apple, almond, lemon and just plain cheese cake. They are baked in individual cakes or one large one. And the best part about it is that cheese cake is a form of American pie.

Almond Cheese Cakes

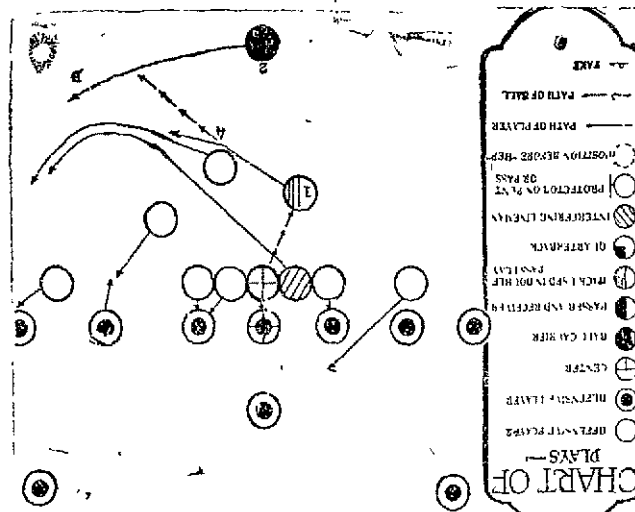

Two cups sour milk, 1 cup sugar, 4 eggs (yolks), 1-2 cup blanched and chopped almonds, 1 lemon, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1-4 teaspoon salt, rich pastry.

The milk should be thick and firm. Scald and strain through cheesecloth. Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch thoroughly. Beat yolks of eggs with dry backward or lateral pass to No. 2 back, who may throw or run as opportunity permits. The diagram shows only the run, but passes may be executed from points A and B.

Several touchdowns were scored in the Western Conference during the season of 1922 by using the latter part of this play.

Let me add this caution: Special emphasis should be placed on the protection of the play. The men protecting the thrower should immediately be alert to the possibilities of interception of the throw, and the thrower should immediately free himself from the opponent about him. One or two fleet linemen should be coached to run back and deep from the scrimmage line after they have blocked an opponent's lineman a sufficient length of time, rather than follow the ball down the field. If these men follow instructions, an opponent intercepting the pass will find it difficult to get very far.

Ingredients. Add to curd and mix lightly. Add grated rind and juice of lemon, almonds and a grating of nutmeg. Turn into patty pans lined with pastry and bake in a moderate oven about half an hour. The mixture should be firm to the touch when it is done.

Apple Cheese Cakes

Six apples, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs, 1 lemon, rich pastry.

Pare and core apples. Cut in thin slices. Put in a sauce pan with just enough water to prevent burning and cook until tender. Rub through a fine sieve. Add sugar and butter and mix well. Reheat, adding the grated rind and juice of the lemon. Stir in the yolks of three eggs and the white of one. Beat well and pour into patty pans lined with pastry. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Folkstone Cheese Cakes

One and one-half cups milk, 1-2 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup finely grated dried bread crumbs, 3 eggs, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 lemon, 1-2 cup currants, rich pastry.

Heat milk with bread crumbs. Cook over hot water for 15 minutes. Add butter, sugar, grated rind of lemon, salt and eggs well beaten. Cook over hot water until mixture thickens. Let cool slightly and pour into patty pans lined with rich pastry. Sprinkle with currants, and bake until mixture is firm to the touch and pastry is done. It will take about half an hour.

Lemon Cheese Cakes

One cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs, 2 lemons, finely shredded candied lemon peel.

Use the grated rind of one lemon and the juice of two. Put sugar, butter, lemon rind and juice into a sauce pan and stir until sugar is dissolved. Beat the yolks of the eggs and add to the mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Let cool. Line patty pans with paste, three-fourths fill them with the mixture, sprinkle over candied peel and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

These recipes are calculated to make 12 small cheese cakes.

Youthful Gamblers

With good teachers, they can pick up unthrifty habits while they're mastering their alphabets. HARDY WINDOW GROWERS

The two most universally successful plants for window gardens are geraniums and begonias. Both are easily grown and do not attract bugs—the bête-noise of the window gardener.

The soil for geraniums should be kept barely moist. They must never be allowed too close to the window on cold nights as they become chilled and often die.

Because of their tropical nature the soft woody begonias, or trumpet flowers, will thrive best in a warm atmosphere and will even stand furnace heat better almost than any other plant. The sunniest window in the house should be given over to the begonias.

HIDDEN BALL PLAY IS GOOD GROUND GAINER. DANGEROUS THREAT

This is a particularly effective back side play. The fullback takes a direct pass and after a few yards from center, turns the upper part of the body and takes giving the ball to a fullback, then he plunges in level the quarter. This momentary delay and loss.

This play was used as a consistent ground gainer by Jack Crangle, Illinois fullback, in 1918, 1920 and 1921. Although it was well known to be in the Illinois repertoire, still it often caught opponents.

Your Health

WHY WORRY?

No one really does more to undermine healthy health and strength than mental overwork mixed with worry. Worry, carried to the limit, will often cause more severe exhaustion and loss than any other body process.

The brain can perform a great amount of work. With proper training, favor the environment and the right kind of food to provide a normal blood supply, there is hardly any limit to its capacity. But sometimes with a young emotional brain attached to the brain, which is under stress of circumstances, forced to work in a narrow or single track, it soon comes to the end of its usefulness.

Over in Germany cash is out of the question when paying school fees. The children couldn't carry enough marks to pay the bill. So they bring teacher a sack of potatoes and some butter for a month's tuition.

When you consider also that the brain is always busy and never ceases Southwark county court. They're too busy to rest, not even during your rest. Old fashioned, the treasury says. For or sleep, you can imagine its tension nearly 150 years they've proved effective and strain if cluttered up with worry. Two weapons in cross-examining reduce the periods of activity and rest must be regulated with great care. You should not draw too heavily on the bank of your bodily health by over-drafts on the brain. Those who try to conserve their health will know that strong or sustained brain work brings about cerebral hyperemia or marked increase in the flow of blood to the brain.

This increased flow should not interfere with other body processes. Do not attempt heavy brain work soon after eating. These two great processes should not be called into full action at the same time.

Often nervous and mental worry are caused by physical overwork. In a sense they are one. Motor activity is the result of nervous energy. Of course muscles tire and undergo changes from their exertion, but the nervous strain is the greater.

Don't worry. Try to relax completely from your work hobby at frequent intervals or as often as you can, with the work situation at its maximum and your worry at minimum.

It is a good plan to avoid worry by trying something else. If you are a banker or speculator, try writing or some mental gymnastics as a relaxing agent. If you are a muscle worker, the nervous worry will not bother you to any extent.

KENTUCKY TRUST COMPANIES REACH NEW HIGH LEVEL

With a total of $91,507,188 Kentucky contributed to the new high level of trust company resources of the country according to "Trust companies of the United States" for 1923 just issued by the United States Mortgage & Trust Company of New York.

The Southern States registered a total of $807,241,568, a gain of $79,764,750 over the previous year.

Nearly fourteen and one-half billions of dollars is the impressive total of resources held by the Trust Companies of the country. The actual figures for the year ending June 30, 1923 are $14,441,460,650, as compared with $12,739,620,733 in 1922, representing a gain of $1,701,839,917. Deposits increased from $10,470,477,813 to $11,828,982,410.

Commenting on the excellent showing of trust companies as above set forth, John W. Platten, president of the United Mortgage & Trust Company says:

"These figures speak for themselves. They also testify in no uncertain manner to the growing popularity and added appreciation of the helpful service being rendered by the Trust companies to their respective communities throughout the United States. Such concrete evidence of confidence can only lead to an ever widening and deepening influence on the part of these institutions."

Recovery From Disturbances of Calamity Tests Relief Services of Red Cross

SAVING PROPERTY ON THE EDGE OF A GREAT FIRE WHILE RED CROSS WORKERS SERVE THE INJURED AND HOMELESS

Washington. — "Japan's earthquake calamity, with its toll of 103,900 dead, 125,000 injured, 235,000 missing and more than 2,000,000 homeless, will affect the equilibrium of the people of the empire for a long period," says Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross. "The after-effect of disaster is far-reaching in its disturbing influence, which persons at a distance cannot visualize, however deeply they are moved to sympathetic action by first reports of extensive loss of life and property," he added. "The magnitude of America in giving two-fold for Japan's relief was characteristic of our people and it serves to point out the lesson learned by the Disaster Relief Service of the Red Cross that the first estimates of destruction generally err on the side of conservatism."

As an example of the long period of recovery which follows disaster Judge Payne cited the forest fires in Minnesota. Many of the persons injured and impoverished in October, 1918, are receiving relief from the Red Cross Chapter at Duluth today—four years after that disaster. The operations undertaken by the Red Cross to rescue and relieve the victims in this instance also had a happy contributing result, for these activities led to the establishing of the Forest Fire Commission by Minnesota, empowered to protect the State's great forest reserves.

The 119 disasters in the United States during the year ended June 30, according to the annual report of the American Red Cross, resulted in 219 deaths, 531 persons injured and property losses estimated at $29,710,000. The record shows nearly every section of the country had its disaster, from Maine to California, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. The victims sheltered, fed and clothed by the Red Cross numbered nearly 20,000. In the recent $10,000,000 fire which destroyed a large part of the residential section of Berkeley, Cal., pictured above, effective emergency service was given by hundreds of University of California students, who were quickly organized by Red Cross workers into safety battalions and did much to minimize loss of property and human suffering. Disaster relief will ever be a foremost duty of the American Red Cross. Judge Payne points out, for calamity comes without warning, and the Red Cross must successfully meet the test of readiness for immediate relief operations whenever the call for services arises. "The American Red Cross is the outward expression, coined into action, of the hearts of the American people," says Judge Payne, who expresses confidence in the success of the membership Roll Call opening Armistice Day, November 11, and bespeaks his belief that the Red Cross would in this year's campaign maintain its numerical strength and recruit many thousands of new members among persons who had come to realize through recent world-stirring calamity that the Red Cross must carry on in peace time as promptly and effectively as in time of war.

TRAVELING HOME AND BUSINESS

A family of five travels about in this moving home and candy store, in Germany. It is the conception of an Austrian noble, Herr Franz von Schlechleithner, who resorted to this source of income after he had lost his fortune in Austria. The home consists of a kitchen and living room downstairs and two bedrooms "upstairs" accessible by climbing and creeping. The candy store is on the trailer.

IMPROVEMENTS ON DIMMING LIGHTS

Would Have Auxiliary Spot Light to Throw Beam to Other Side Road

Our representatives meant well when they passed a law regulating head-lights.

But were they right, when they required that glaring lights be dimmed every time another motorist approached?

This apparently unimportant question returns with especial vehemence and real significance, accompanied by a new viewpoint of automobile head-lights.

The new angle comes from England and is occasioned by a unanimous resolution recently passed by the general committee of the Royal Automobile Club in that country. The resolution is:

"That this committee considers that the practice of switching off electric headlights when meeting other traffic on the open road is fraught with considerable danger and urges motorists to discontinue it."

There you are! A complete reversal of our own idea—backed up by laws in every state—that glaring head lights are detrimental to night driving.

Dimming Danger

But there is much to be said for the English viewpoint. Members of the same general committee argue that sudden dimming of glaring headlights blinds the oncoming motorist so that he has to feel his way past your car. At the same time you, with dimmed headlights find it hard to clear your own way past him on a pitch dark road.

Either way, glaring headlights or dimmed, both approaching motorists find themselves at a disadvantage and have to feel their way past each other.

There is another solution for this difficulty—one that has not yet been tried out to any extent. One inventor has already applied for a patent based on this new idea.

Guiding Lights

Thus, when headlights are dimmed, the approaching motorist is guided by the auxiliary light of the other automobile, and can steer clear of the car.

An improvement of this form of light would be one that would throw its beams farther out to the left of the road, so that the approaching motorist may see exactly how much clearance he has.

For want of this, some sort of dimming devices are being sold, which cut down the intensity of the glaring headlight gradually instead of suddenly. This at least allows the eye to get accustomed to the change gradually.

This race horse Zev will be running for office next.

KENTUCKIAN TAKES LIFE JUMPING INTO WELL

Fonda, Ky., Oct. 29.—H. R. Perkins, a resident of Fonda, ended his life by jumping into an old well early Tuesday morning at 1 a. m. The act was due to insanity. Mr. Perkins having told his pastor several days ago that he was losing his mind and had not slept an hour since the close of a revival here three weeks ago conducted by Rev. Leacy Adkins of Harrison, Tenn.

Mr. Perkins was a carpenter for the Clear Fork Coal company and had running a picture show for two nights in the week. He was converted at a tent meeting held by the Rev. Adkins but for some reason failed to join the church.

Last Sunday he boarded the train at noon, to go to relatives, who met him at the station, after having been notified of the man's condition. Monday night he told his relatives not to worry about him as he might have to be up during the night. At 4 o'clock he arose and dressed and left the house, and when he failed to return to his room an hour later, the family began a search about 6 o'clock, finding his body in an old well about 40 feet deep, with several feet of water in the bottom, in which he had drowned himself.

He leaves one son, Elmer Perkins who resides at Fonda. Burial took place at 1 p. m.

Washington Ancestral Home

NEW YORK—The National Society of Colonial Dames is about to launch a campaign for $100,000 for an endowment to the upkeep of the Washington ancestral home in Northamptonshire, England. John Washington, great-grandfather of America's first president was born in the house. A British committee is caring for it now.
